EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPTEMBER 21st, 1893.

THE FIRST FROST.

The first frost of the season occurred at Edmonton on Saturday night, September 16th. The first fall frost is expected along about this time in every year, but the frosts of Saturday, Sunday and even Monday nights were unexampled in severity at this season. Fortunately the season of growth had been so favorable that all grain was ripe, therefore no damage was done to the staple products, but the flowers and delicate vegetables such as tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, pumpkins, corn, etc., are almost a complete wreck. Tuesday night was milder, but a little snow fell. This had disappeared by noon on Wednesday but the day was cloudy and threatening and delayed harvesting operations. The cold snap and snow were not confined to Edmonton, as snow fell on Saturday night along the line from Medicine Hat to Calgary and north to Olds and the weather was quite cold as well, with a keen wind. While such a heavy frost is unusual at this season and snow is still more rare, there are redeeming features connected with the cold snap which more than make up for its unpleasantness. The dry hot weather which has prevailed throughout the Northwest since the beginning of August has been productive of a good deal of sickness amongst both children and grown people, and had it continued would no doubt have had serious results before the setting in of winter. Prairie fires had also begun to run in the southern part of the territories causing great destruction of grass and hay. These will be stopped for a time and perhaps for the whole of the fall, to the great advantage of every one. In this district fires have not yet commenced and they will be still further delayed by the present damp weather.

NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

REGINA, Sept. 12.

Clinksill seconded by Betts moved the resolution which he has moved at every session of the assembly asking that scrip and medals be granted to the mounted police who served in 1885.

Mitchell introduced a bill to alter the boundaries of the electoral districts of Prince Albert, Mitchell, Batoche and Cumberland.

Haultain introduced bills relating to limitation of actions respecting real property, to amend the ordinance respecting the practice of dentistry and the supply bill.

The report of the committee appointed to investigate the case of Daniel Campbell recommending his expulsion as a fugitive from justice was adopted without division.

Haultain laid on the table a supplementary report of the chief license inspector also a statement of expenditure of funds granted by the minister of agriculture in aid of the Northwest exhibit at the World's fair.

Oliver's bill to amend the masters and servants ordinance was read a second time.

Mowat's bill providing for the management of public parks was refused a second reading on the ground that it was premature.

The bill to incorporate the city of Calgary was considered in committee. Some important amendments were made and the bill reported for third reading.

Davidson's bill to prohibit shooting on Sunday was reported. Also Dill's bill to give Levi Thompson a certain status as a student at law.

The judicature ordinance was considered in committee, and an amendment reducing the exemptions on salary from $50 to $25 was introduced by Haultain; the exemption not to apply in case of debt incurred for board or lodging.

EVENING SESSION.

Haultain's amendment to the judicature ordinance exempting salary to the amount of $25 from garnishee except in case of debt for board or lodging was carried in committee.

Cauley moved that executions issued against lands should not take effect for three years. Some years ago the assembly had passed an ordinance exempting homestead land to the extent of 160 acres from seizure and sale under execution. This provision had been held to be of non effect by the courts. At the last session of parliament the minister of interior had secured the passage of an act providing for the exemption of 160 acres of homestead land. This provision was so hedged about with restrictions as to very greatly lessen its value; and besides it offered no protection in respect of debts contracted before the registration of the land as exempted land was made. It was hoped that shortly the legislation spoken of would be amended so as to cover more fully the necessities of the case. By enacting the provision suggested present protection would be afforded, which would meet the case until adequate legislation was enacted at Ottawa. It was desirable to protect the farmer making a start in this country from the results of misfortunes in other provinces, as the house had originally contemplated.

Haultain pointed out that the proposition was retroactive and would keep men who were entitled under process of law as it stands to realize on their accounts out of their money for three years, which he thought a most unjustifiable proceeding.

Brett supported the amendment.

Insinger said that the relief proposed was not confined to homesteaders but applied equally to speculators no matter on how large or small a scale in either town or country, whom it would enable to defy their creditors for three years. He would like to hear the principle of such an exemption.

Haultain said that as the assembly had not authority to exempt homesteads and as the Dominion parliament had, and had exercised that authority, it would be well to leave the matter in their hands. It was unfair to the homesteader to use his case, which had been provided for by the Dominion, as an argument for exempting speculators of all kinds.

The amendment was carried in committee by a vote of ten to nine.

Haultain said that in the ordinance as it was a scale of court fees was contained but provision was made whereby that scale could be amended by the judges. In the present bill the scale of fees had been left out and the judges vested with authority to compile a scale of fees. Of course if the scale of fees compiled by the judges was unsatisfactory it could be amended by the house. In leaving the matter in the hands of the judges he was following the example of the other provinces and Great Britain.

House adjourned at 10:30 p. m.

REGINA, Sept. 13.

Tweed from the library committee reported rules to be adopted.

Dill from the agricultural committee reported that Mr. Haultain should be allowed to bring in a consolidation of the prairie fires ordinance. Also in favor of a resolution asking the department of agriculture to substitute a travelling dairy school for the lectures on dairying hitherto given.

Cauley moved a memorial to the Dominion government asking that the homestead exemption law be made the same as in Manitoba. This was carried with an amendment by Oliver that the exemption be not extended to town property as in Manitoba, where an exemption of $1,500 is allowed.

Knowing moved that he have leave to use a part of the funds appropriated for miscellaneous expenditure in his district in paying part of the value of certain horses destroyed on account of being glandered. Motion rejected on the ground that the house had already declared that the owners of glandered horses had no proper claim for compensation, and that it would not be sound policy to permit exceptions to the rule as long as the rule stood.

Third readings were given the bills to exempt sleighs and seeders from sale under execution, to incorporate the city of Calgary and to give Levi Thompson a certain status as a student at law.

Second readings were given the bill to alter the boundaries of the electoral districts of Prince Albert, Cumberland, Batoche, Mitchell, Wolseley and Qu'Appelle. By this bill portions of Prince Albert district are given to Cumberland, Batoche and Mitchell and a portion of South Qu'Appelle is given to Wolseley.

Second reading was given the bill to fix the limitation of actions regarding real property to twelve years as in Great Britain at present, instead of twenty years as hitherto in the Northwest.

Second reading was given the bill respecting the practice of dentistry. This bill strikes the penal clause out of the dental ordinance and leaves registered practitioners able to collect their accounts by process of law as unregistered practitioners cannot.

Second reading was given the bill amending the school ordinance. The amendments are formal and verbal, no change in principle being made.

Haultain's bill consolidating the municipal ordinance was laid on the table printed, and was withdrawn by the mover as the session was too near its ending to give the bill proper consideration. It is now in shape for general consideration and will be re-introduced next session.

The masters and servants amendment providing that a servant can avail himself of the summary remedy provided by the ordinance within thirty days after the close of his term of service was passed through committee. An attempt to strike out the clause of the original ordinance whereby a person who harbors a servant who has left his master's employ improperly is liable to fine and imprisonment was defeated.

The bill to abolish priority amongst execution creditors was considered in committee and an amendment made allowing priority to one month's wages of employees.

The bill respecting apprentices and minors was killed by being left in committee on motion of the promoter Mr. Dill, the reason given being that the bill had been so much amended in committee of the whole that it did not now meet the requirements which the original bill was intended to meet.

The bill respecting the advertising of stray animals was considered in committee and the sections providing for the sale of estrays by the finders were struck out after a long and hot discussion. The bill now provides that notice of an estray must be inserted in the Northwest Gazette, for which no charge is to be made, and if the notice is not given the finder is liable to a penalty of $25.

House rose at 10:30 p. m. to sit again on Thursday forenoon. It is expected that business will be concluded on Friday.

REGINA, Sept. 14.

Mowat introduced a bill to amend the herd ordinance, providing a penalty for driving cattle on land so as to cause a trespass under the law. The bill was put through its several stages and passed in the afternoon with an amendment by Page regarding giving notice of impounded animals.

Prince moved two resolutions of memorials to Ottawa. One asking scrip for half breed children born between 1870 and 1885, the other asking for a relaxation of the fishery regulations in favor of the half breeds of the fishing lakes near the Saskatchewan river and of those residing along the river itself.

Tweed moved a memorial resolution addressed to Ottawa asking for the ballot in Dominion elections in the Territories.

Dill moved a memorial resolution addressed to the C. P. R. company asking further reductions in grain rates.

Cayley introduced a bill to exempt postmasters from serving on juries. The bill was taken through its several stages and passed.

Haultain introduced a bill to amend the ordinance respecting the legal profession providing for uniform examination of candidates and to relieve the judges from the duty of examining now imposed, to which they objected. The bill was passed through committee.

Haultain moved that the seat for Whitewood be declared vacant, as the member was a fugitive from justice. Agreed without dissent.

Third readings were given the supply bill; amendments to masters and servants ordinance; to alter the boundaries of certain electoral districts; respecting the advertising of stray animals and amending the ordinance respecting dentistry.

Amendments to the prairie fire ordinance were introduced by Haultain in a consolidation of the prairie fire ordinance and pushed through committee.

The report of the library committee providing rules for the government of the library was amended by removing the exception which allowed residents of Regina and not of other parts of the Territories the privilege of getting books from the library.

When the school amendments came up for third reading, Ininger moved in amendment that a permissive system of taxation be allowed which would tax all land whether improved or unimproved, with or without buildings at an equal value, but which would not exempt personal property, as is done under the present permissive section of the ordinance. This was defeated by fourteen to six. Yeas—Knowing, Ininger, Page, Tweed, Oliver, Jolly—6. Nays—Betts, Boucher, Meyers, Mowat, Dill, Mitchell, Haultain, Neff, Brett, Litchman, Davidson, Cayley, Sutherland, Clinksill—14.

A message was received from His Honor the lieutenant governor authorizing a vote on the third reading of Mowat's bill respecting municipal assessment. The third reading was carried by twelve to six. Yeas—Betts, Boucher, Meyers, Knowing, Mowat, Dill, Page, Tweed, Davidson, Clinksill, Jolly, Sutherland—12. Nays—Ininger, Mitchell, Haultain, Neff, Oliver, Wilkins—6.

Dill moved the adjournment for the purpose of questioning the expenditure from the Dominion vote of $5,000 on the World's fair by Mr. Haultain. Some districts had been charged with the expenditure made on their behalf while the expenditure in behalf of others had been paid from this fund.

Haultain explained that the Dominion money did not become available until a considerable expenditure had already been incurred. In reply to Mowat he said that once the money was spent it could not be returned, for the Dominion money was given to be spent directly for the purposes of the exhibition and could not be diverted from that purpose.

House adjourned at 5:30 p. m., to sit at 10:30 on Friday to complete the business of the session.

REGINA, September 15.

House opened at 10:30 for the last day's business.

Boucher moved a memorial resolution to the effect that restitution should be made for property destroyed by troops in 1885 after the close of hostilities. Prince seconded and Mitchell, Clinksill and Haultain supported.

Davidson moved a memorial resolution to the effect that it was undesirable that the Northwest mounted police should be allowed to fall below the full strength of 1,000 men.

Tweed and Haultain supported.

Oliver objected that the resolution conveyed the idea that the state of society in the Northwest was such as to require a force of 1,000 men to keep order.

Haultain moved a resolution asking the lieutenant governor to declare the seat for Whitewood vacant and to order a new election there.

Haultain moved a memorial resolution to the effect that the salaries of judges of the supreme court in the Northwest should be raised $1,000 a year.

Third readings were given the bills to abolish priority amongst execution creditors, to amend the ordinances respecting the legal profession and respecting the limitation of actions in regard to real property.

At the motion for the third reading of the bill to consolidate and amend the prairie fire ordinance, Jolly seconded by Mowat moved an amendment to remove the penalty enacted in case of fire passing from the premises of one person to those of another unless the fire originated on his premises.

It was pointed out that the stringent provision was necessary in order to meet the demands of the agricultural committee of which the mover of this amendment was a member, and in which he was foremost in demanding a strong measure. The amendment was defeated and the bill read a third time.

On the order for the third reading of the bill to amend the ordinance respecting the legal profession and respecting the limitation of actions in regard to real property, Haultain moved that the section providing that executions against land should not take effect for three years be amended so as to allow executions to take effect against land in one year as provided in the original bill. As the section stood at present it practically defrauded creditors who had allowed disaffected debtors to contract liabilities under a certain condition of affairs in which they had ample security. If this was considered as an exemption it was not a proper exemption as it included all classes of land as well as homesteads. The assembly had not the authority to exempt lands, and not having that authority the matter should be left to the Dominion parliament where the responsibility properly belonged.

Cayley replied that the ordinance was not to come into effect until January next and that creditors could secure themselves in the meantime.

Oliver said that the section as it stood was a blow at the credit of the landholders and especially the homesteaders of the country and as well as the reputation of the house for enacting legislation in good faith. The Dominion law provided that the homesteader could secure exemption by taking certain measures, and the house had no right to force upon him in the interest of other parties an exemption for which he had not asked and which would injure his proper credit and therefore his business, if granted.

Haultain's motion was carried by a vote of nine to eight.

Mowat asked if provision had been made for garnishing the salaries of employees of the Northwest government.

Haultain replied that no such provision had been introduced in the judicature ordinance because the desired end could be attained by more direct means. The executive would consider a persistent failure of employees to pay their just debts sufficient cause for dismissal from the service.

The judicature ordinance was then read a third time.

Haultain introduced a bill to withdraw the northern portion of the district of St. Albert from the operations of the license law with a view to aiding the police in their efforts to keep liquor from being taken into the Peace and Mackenzie river countries. The part taken from the operations of the license ordinance includes, Lac la Poudre, Athabasca Landing and Lac la Biche. The effect of the ordinance is to prohibit the taking of liquor to those points. This matter was dealt with on suggestion of the lieutenant governor who alluded to it in the speech with which he opened the assembly. The bill was pushed through its several stages and passed.

House adjourned to meet at 9:30 on Saturday for prorogation.

104 PAPERS
— IN A YEAR FOR —
$2.00.

News of Edmonton and surroundings up to hour of issue.
News of the world by telegraph up to day of issue and from two to five days ahead of any other paper reaching Edmonton.

Controlled only by the proprietor and therefore always ready and willing to speak out for the good of the town and district.

THE BULLETIN is read more generally throughout the Edmonton district than any other paper.

If you want to do business in the Edmonton district you can reach more of the people with a less expenditure of money through the advertising columns of the BULLETIN than by any other means.

Fair advertising rates charged, and like rates to all parties.

No advertising of a questionable nature admitted if its character is known.

THE BULLETIN Printing office is second to none in the Territories. Only first-class type, machinery and paper employed. Printing of all kinds done promptly, neatly and cheaply. Call and see samples of work, and get prices before ordering your printing elsewhere.

A newspaper is not a producing industry, but if properly conducted it assists and stimulates production and progress more than any other single agency of like cost. Money spent towards the support of a newspaper is almost entirely spent within the town in which the paper is published and is therefore not lost to the business of the town.

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

Support your home paper liberally if it deserves support, so that it can give the best possible impression of your town and district as a field for immigration and investment.

There is big money for a new town in having a live and interesting paper.
